

NEWS ALERT***

USGBC Design Competition at Greenbuild

The Emerging Green Builders Subcommittee of the U.S. Green Building Council announces THE FIRST ANNUAL 2003 USGBC DESIGN COMPETITION.

Current students and individuals with less than 3 years experience in the building industry are invited to participate. The competition seeks the submittal of a complete, sustainably designed building and site following set design parameters, utilizing the LEED™ Green Building Rating System. The project will require an understanding of (or a willingness to learn about) green design principles, contextual design and planning, resource efficiency, and life cycle cost analysis. Participants may work individually or in teams of up to three, not including a faculty or professional advisor. Email your intent to participate to emerginggreen@usgbc.org.

Finalists will be showcased, and winners announced and awarded at the USGBC's 2003 Greenbuild Conference and Expo in Pittsburgh this November, <http://www.greenbuildexpo.com/>.

Visit <http://www.usgbc.org/Chapters/emerginggreen.asp> for competition details and rules.